

FIRST MARINE DIVISION, INCLUDING VETERANS OF GUADALCANAL, OTHER WORLD WAR II CAMPAIGNS, ARRIVE IN SOUTH KOREA TO ENTER CONFLICT

Accompanied by Air Wing Units, Arrive in Full Battle Array

GEN. CRAIG IN CHARGE

Leading Transport Arrives At War Zone South Korean Port

TOKYO, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Combat troops of the celebrated U. S. First Marine Division, including battle-wise veterans of Guadalcanal and other World War II campaigns, arrived in South Korea late today to throw their weight against an all-out Communist offensive.

The leading transport of a convoy that brought the crack leatherneck units across the Pacific from the American west coast straight to the war zone arrived at the breakwater of a South Korean port at 5:50 p. m. (3:50 a. m. EDT).

In a dispatch from the port, International News Service war correspondent Frank Conniff said the Marines were expected to come ashore within an hour after the transports' arrival at the breakwater.

Accompanied by an air wing, the crack Marine units arrived in full battle array, equipped with powerful General Pershing tanks, flame-throwers and other ultra-modern weapons. The leatherneck combat men were ready to go into immediate action from their debarkation port.

Commanded by Brig. Gen. Edward A. Craig of Danbury, Conn., the elements of the First Marine Division crossed the Pacific in a convoy of three transports escorted by nine destroyers and one aircraft carrier.

Arrival of the first leatherneck fighting units to reach the Korean war theater was preceded by an advance Marine administrative party which landed at the South Korean port Tuesday.

The advent of the Marines coincided with a further Communist advance along Korea's south coast to within 29 miles west of vital Pusan. This enemy drive simultaneously threatened to outflank counter-attacking U. S. Army troops which, in turn, were lashing at the deep northern flank of the enemy's south-wing columns.

A spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters asserted, however, that the main Communist effort to split American forces in the southern sector had been "checked but not stopped."

He announced that a general United Nations withdrawal to "more advantageous positions" is under way in the central and northern sectors of the dwindling front.

A headquarters intelligence officer declared that "now is the time for the enemy to commit his armor for final desperate efforts" to conquer Korea's southeast corner before growing American forces can be thrown into a full-scale counter-offensive.

Field advisers said tank-led troops of the U. S. 24th—the first of the four American army divisions in Korea to go into action—launched a sharp counter-attack that thrust to within four miles northeast of Chinha.

That action dug menacingly into the deep flank of North Korean forces which nevertheless slashed farther east along Korea's southern rim to capture Chindong-ni, 29 air miles northeast of Chinha.

The mental requirements for voluntary enlistments into the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force have been substantially lowered according to S/Sgt Chas. F. Kinsey of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station Pond & Mulberry Sts.

The Sergeant stated that this will undoubtedly result in the enlistment of a greater number of individuals who might not have been able to qualify under the extremely high standards previously in effect.

For the convenience of volunteers, the local recruiting station will remain open on Weekdays & Saturdays from 8:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

WAYS OF A SPY ARE IMPORTANT TO ALL

All Generally Are Just Ordinary People Attracting Little Attention

HOW SOME ACT

(The ways of a spy are more important than ever to all Americans as the FBI almost weekly turns up persons charged with having conspired to deliver U. S. military secrets to the Russians. The following article is the third in a series of four about the U. S. citizens already arrested as members of the Soviet espionage ring in America, those President Truman and the FBI have warned are the enemies working from within.)

By Malcolm Johnson

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(INS)—Twenty-four hours after the arrest of Alfred Dean Slack in Syracuse, FBI agents in New York City picked up another alleged member of the Soviet spy ring—a young man named David Greenglass.

And who was Greenglass? He was a nobody, even more of a cipher as a personality, if possible, than either Slack or Harry Gold, two other "average Americans" accused as spies.

Greenglass is a plump, unimaginative young man, 28, who lived with his wife and two small children in a cold water flat on the lower east side in New York.

At the time of his arrest on June 16 Greenglass' wife, Ruth, 26, was in the hospital suffering severe burns as a result of an accident while she was preparing a meal for the family.

During the arraignment Greenglass' thoughts were of his two children, Stephen, 4, and their month-old baby daughter. Wringing his hands, he murmured: "I ought to be fixing the baby's formula."

Greenglass was employed as a machinist in Brooklyn. He was always hard up, known to his friends as "Dad."

BUCKS COUNTY IN AREA CONSIDERED No. 1 TARGET FOR SELECTIVE SERVICE

County Also Considered A Major Relief Center For Phila. Residents

TO MAKE INVENTORY EXPECT TO INDUCT 10

The counties surrounding Philadelphia were told yesterday that they were in a number one target area in case of enemy attack and that they should lay immediate plans for mutual aid if full-scale war comes.

Mayor Bernard Samuel, of Philadelphia, said that "I think without any question of doubt, we—not Philadelphia city, but the Philadelphia area—are a No. 1 target."

"If we do get into a war—and I don't know but what we're not in it now—the question is not what Philadelphia can do for itself, but what all of the communities in this area can do for each other."

Groundwork for mutual defense aid was laid in a meeting of the Greater Philadelphia-South Jersey Council in the Hotel Warwick, Philadelphia, where representatives of seven of the nine counties in the area were called to a meeting by Gen. Brenton G. Wallace, council chairman.

The plan to distribute two dollar radios in Russia may have to wait until we get a few more two dollar guns into Korea.

I don't know how many more Russians would listen to our programs if we gave them the sets. . . . We gave them ice breakers a few years ago and all we got back was a deeper chill.

We gave them ice breakers so they could find new ports. . . . The strategy was to give them so many new ports they wouldn't know which one to threaten us from.

But we must never forget that this and similar strategy made Russia our ally against Japan. . . . They came in two days after the second atom bomb and fought bravely for 10 days after the Japs quit.

Still if a two dollar radio will convert Russia, I say put in another tube and solve the problems of the universe.

Truman Suffers Political Setback in Missouri

St. Louis—President Truman appears today to have suffered a stunning political setback at the hands of his own party in his home state of Missouri. Late returns from all but 715 of the State's 4,656 precincts today gave Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., St. Louis attorney, a lead of more than 7,000 votes over Emory W. Allison of Rolla, the man the President supported in the Democratic primary race for the senatorial nomination. Hennings slanted his campaign directly at presidential interference with the slogan, "Let the people pick their Senator." He rolled up a 60,000 vote plurality in St. Louis to lead Allison by a vote of 158,416 to 151,248.

WHERE MONEY WENT

The other day a member rose in Congress and asked, perhaps a bit impudently, "What became of all the billions which have been appropriated for national defense?" The question was prompted by the situation this nation faces following the outbreak in Korea. The problem of national defense has been before Congress months on end, and nothing definite has come out of all the agitation over the matter.

When the need came to make a show force in the face of Russian aggression it was suddenly realized the nation was practically unarmed so far as immediate needs are concerned.

The need for economy was urged as one of the reasons why the government could not improve the military situation. While there has been some increase in defense spending during the past two years it has been trifling compared to that spent in behalf of pork barrels, gimmicks and unnecessary waste, all intended to make votes for the fair-deal administration. Federal budgets for the years 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1951 have increased 77 per cent, while the interest on the national debt has increased 8 per cent.

That's where the money has gone the Congressman asked about. It went to fortify the dogooders instead of the nation. Even now there is talk of more socialistic schemes which will cost millions of dollars. Apparently Russia is playing for keeps, while the majority in Congress is thinking no further ahead than the next election.

TIME FOR ECONOMY

Economy, at this juncture, would seem to be a still, small voice, crying in the wilderness of box car figures. Nevertheless there seems to be sincere bipartisan sentiment for it.

Mr. Truman has made a start of sorts by instructing heads of government departments and agencies to cut down on the purchase of supplies and equipment and take a sharper look at their spending. From past experience at this sort of thing, "economy" in government agencies will net very little in the way of dollars actually saved. However, the heads of departments should certainly be the ones to point out where cuts are possible.

It is heartening to note in Washington papers that proposed construction of several new government buildings has been dropped.

It seems that this would be the logical time to write into law some of the recommendations of the Hoover Commission that have been ignored by Congress for a variety of reasons. To date about 35 per cent of the proposals have been given congressional approval. Here is a chance to effect economy on a long range basis. It would seem to be a better bet than short-range, hit-or-miss pruning jobs.

It is to be hoped snooty clerks won't be asking again: "Don't you know there's a war on?"

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Will We Never Learn?

Washington, Aug. 2
Faced with a peril such as now confronts this country, it seems incredible that the facts presented on Wednesday by Mr. B. M. Haruch to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee could be passed over or ignored. No more solemn warning and none more solidly based has ever been given to this nation in a great crisis.

And yet all Mr. Haruch did was to repeat, in substance, the recommendations he made in 1941 and upon which action was inexcusably delayed for two years (and even then feebly taken) during which time prices of all kinds had run wild and an inflation permitted that "added a hundred billion" to the cost of the war, needlessly prolonged the conflict and unnecessarily increased the toll of dead and wounded. At that time, asked for his advice, Mr. Haruch laid down facts which never have been questioned and made arguments which never have been disputed.

Now, nine years later, responding to another request, this man, who no one has ever suggested had either a personal or political axe to grind, again urges without delay an "overall ceiling across the entire economy, overall prices, wages, rents, fees, etc., with high enough taxes to prevent profiteering and to pay all defense costs, with an all-embracing effective system of priorities." In brief, he again insists there is no way to avert inflation except by immediate dealing with the factors involved altogether and all at one time. It cannot be done piecemeal, as Mr. Roosevelt disastrously attempted last time, or step by step, as Mr. Truman now proposes. This time, the Haruch recommendations have greatly gained in weight by the record of the terrific waste of men, money and material which followed failure to act in 1941.

Not minimizing the drastic nature of an all-out mobilization, Mr. Haruch contends it is the only intelligent way to proceed. It would minimize the actual sacrifices we would have to make and reduce the risks of a third world war by serving notice to the world that our tremendous economic potential is ready to be exerted fully—and not partly. "Before the peace is won," he declared, "we shall have to come to this mobilization. It will never be easier to do than now." Of course, the great basic fact about the Haruch proposals, which Mr. Roosevelt would not face in 1941, and which Mr. Truman is evidently not facing now, is that all efforts to control prices—which means inflation—become farcical if ceilings are not firmly placed on wages and on food costs, which are the two big factors in all prices.

No one denies these facts and yet Mr. Roosevelt in 1941 shoved them aside and last Wednesday Mr. Truman gave no indication of facing up to them. Nor is there much hope that without White House leadership Congress will do so either, despite the strong words from Mr. Haruch characterizing the pending measure before the committee. "This bill, gentlemen," he said, "is an invitation to inflation. Will we never learn? No system of priorities can ever work without price control. That was learned in World War I. It was forgotten and had to be learned again in World War II. Must we persist in repeating the mistakes of the past even to inviting disaster?"

Nine years ago, when Mr. Roosevelt first altogether avoided the question of price control, there were plenty besides Mr. Haruch to point out the mistake. A year later when he finally was forced to set up his Office of Price Administration that gave his administrator no control over wages, it was clear he had given that official, Mr. Leon Henderson, an utterly impossible job. Being an intelligent man, Mr. Henderson knew why it was impossible then to attribute the Roosevelt refusal to grasp the wage-control problem to anything other than the political alliance existing between him and the labor union bosses. That refusal was followed by innumerable strikes and slowdowns, wage and price increases and long delays in the production of war material which few can have forgotten. Today one is almost forced to ascribe Mr. Truman's apparent refusal to profit by a bitter and costly experience to the same reason.

The alliance between the Democratic Administration and the Democratic party, on the one hand, and the labor bosses, on the other, is even tighter now than it was under Mr. Roosevelt. Their attitude is more arrogant and demanding. The politicians regard their support as more important. So long as Mr. Truman fails to meet his test, he cannot escape the obvious conclusion as to the reasons. The cost to the country can be so devastating that it is unthinkable a man in his position should not rise above all political considerations and personal feelings. It is ardently to be hoped that Mr. Truman speedily proves that those who suggest he may not, do him great injustice.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Courier:

Much has been written in editorials throughout the nation about the postal cuts ordered by the Postmaster General's directive of April 17, 1950, however, little has been seen by this writer in our own Bristol Courier.

This thriving community is suffering just as much as the rest of the nation, therefore we should be just as much concerned, it appears to me, though, we are taking it too matter-of-factly.

The small businessmen of this area that depend on frequent and efficient mail service to keep above the break-even point should realize that poor mail service is costing them money, sales and customers. Individual mail users should be irritated enough to express their feelings in letters to their Congressmen and the Postmaster General.

Much can be done by telling our representatives how we feel about this cut-back in service, both the House and Senate Post Office Committees have passed bills ordering the Post Office to restore mail service.

If you just continue complaining to your family and neighbors, nothing will be done, our own Postmaster, carriers and clerks are more than anxious to give the people of Bristol the service that is due them.

Our local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers is small, we therefore, would welcome and appreciate very much, help, both editorially and the citizens of Bristol.

Sincerely yours,
LAWRENCE N. HARRISON, Sr.,
Carrier, Bristol Post Office.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

WARM summer days are quite a problem for the housewife. First of all there is the family's appetite to consider. What will they eat on these days? Secondly, working in a hot kitchen is no fun for the lady of the house, especially on Sunday.

That's why this week A & P's Service for Homemakers suggests an appetizing cold meat dish for Sunday's dinner—Veal with Mayonnaise Mask. The following recipe for this nourishing dish was especially selected and tested by Woman's Day magazine. It can be prepared at your leisure and served later direct from the refrigerator.

Put a breast of veal weighing about 5 pounds, one large, sliced onion, two teaspoons salt, half a teaspoon of pepper, one stalk of celery and six cups of boiling water in a large kettle. Bring all to a boil. Cover, and simmer gently for two and a half hours or until meat is tender. Drain, reserving liquid. Remove meat from bones, and cut in coarse pieces. Strain liquid and reduce to half a cup by boiling uncovered. Pack meat in small mixing bowl, and add liquid. Let stand until cold. Cover with waxed paper and chill overnight under heavy weight. Turn out on flat plate. Soak one envelope of plain gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve over boiling water. Add slowly to one cup of mayonnaise, stirring constantly. Four mixture over veal spreading to coat meat on all sides. Garnish with slices of stuffed olives and water cress. Chill until serving time. Cut in wedges.

There's enough of this tasty treat for six or eight servings. An ideal combination with this would be peach halves with cottage cheese, hot buttered green lima beans and whole wheat bread. Raspberry sherbet with cookies and a tall glass of iced tea or coffee would round out this warm-weather meal.

It costs you money every time you don't read Want Ads in The Courier.

PLEASINGLY VERSATILE

A SMALL MODERN four-room house that's keyed to the times. The exterior presents a charming combination of stone and frame. A small stoop adds interest to the front entrance. Note the attractive scalloped arrangement of wood over the living room picture window.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"FUNCTIONAL furniture" is a phrase that's fancied by young moderns. It's 1950 home fashion news, and it means simply that furniture is being designed to do something other than look attractive.

Well, here's a house to match. It's attractive and, like today's furniture, it can serve several purposes.

A young couple would find this house just right—and so would a larger family group. Newlyweds would use the guest-stair room next to the bathroom for dining. A larger family might convert the stairs room into sleeping quarters for small fry and do their dining in the large kitchen space. Or, for company dinners, they might purchase one of the wonderful new dining tables that come lamp table size—and fit neatly into a living room—but open up and up and up to serve a banquet.

This home is well laid out. Open the front door and presto! there's a big, roomy closet to take care of family or guests. And look at the living room! Roomy and charming, with a big natural fireplace and a pretty picture window.

The back bedroom is good-sized and can accommodate twin beds. No need to fight over closet space here. There's a big one that will accommodate clothes comfortably for both Mrs. and Mr.

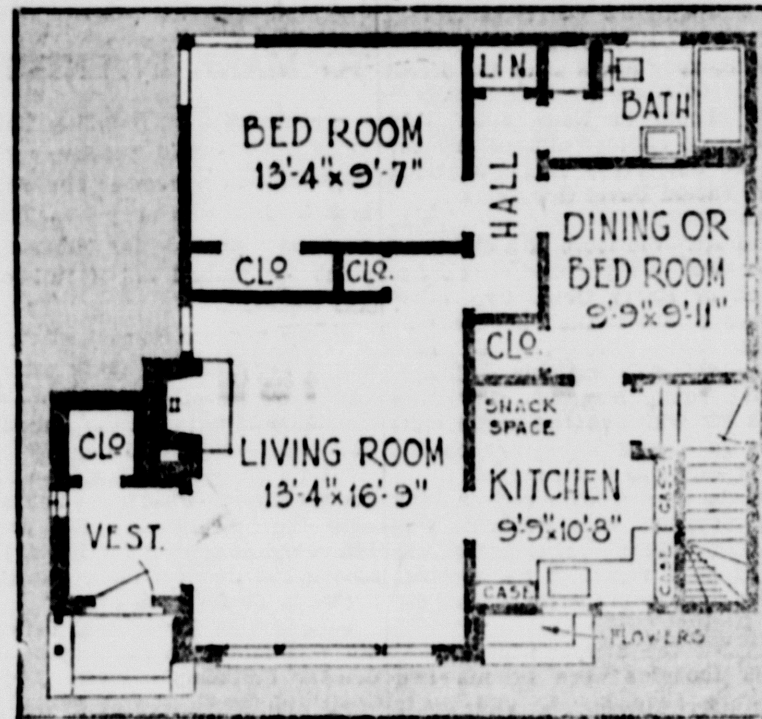

The kitchen measures up, too. An "L" arrangement of sink, cabinets, refrigerator and stove should save steps for the lady of the house.

The bath is in the back of the house. Towel and linen closets are conveniently placed nearby—another excellent accommodation.

Ceilings are 8 feet high; 7 feet high in basement. In all, the house comprises 17,150 cubic feet. An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this house is for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The A-101."

To arrive at a general estimate of the construction cost of this house, ascertain construction costs per cubic foot in your locality, then multiply this by the number of cubic feet given here. The result should be within 10 per cent either way of the cost.

THE FLOOR PLAN is versatile. Just off the kitchen there's a large closet which may be readily converted into another bedroom.

EMILIE

On Wednesday and Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Edward Connor were guests of Miss Kathleen Hanke, of Sky Top, and also visited Mrs. Robert Hanke, of near Scranton.

The meeting of the Tin Toppers Sunday School class scheduled for Wednesday evening will be postponed until September. This meeting was to be at the home of Mrs. George Lovett.

On Sunday morning during the worship service at the Emilie Methodist Church, Linda Virginia Reedman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reedman was baptised by the Rev. Samuel Gaskell. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reedman, also of Emilie, the baby's uncle and aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker were visitors at Ocean City, N. J., on Thursday, and also overnight guests there and on Friday visited at Atlantic City, N. J.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jadlocki, Jr., entertained at dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Crispin and children, Charles and Jo Anne, Harrisonville; Donald Haviland, Elizabethtown; Miss Anne Williams, Dardtown, N. J.; Miss Susanne Jadlocki, Abington; Miss Laddie Wilson, Gail Ann and Stephen Jadlocki, III, Messrs. Crispin and Haviland were on the Shangri La (the aircraft carrier) with Mr. Jadlocki during World War II.

By Jim Larkin

I love a picnic; somehow food
To higher taste rate soars
And has a savor taste as good
When it's served out of doors.
I've feasted well on fancy fare
In swank spots, coast to coast,
Yet such meals just cannot compare
With a good wiener roast.

MEN OF MERIT

I never have met Sam Kennedy, Iowa's biggest onion and potato grower whose farm is near Clear Lake, but I know of him. I consider him a man of merit.

My opinion is built upon the fact that Farmer Kennedy is opposed to price supports of any kind and he is quoted as having said: "Why should any group pay another group support prices, or anything else? The government doesn't have any money unless it takes it away from you and me first." Now perhaps Sam has no more than my own limited knowledge of economics. But he has the good old-fashioned American sense to see the "Indian give" gimmick in any of us being given money which we must return in taxes—but in greater amount. There should be more men like Sam Kennedy who realize that any greenbacks garnered from the government must come out of our own pockets in the first place—or will later.

DEFINITIONS IN RHYME

Avoid need of COMPUNCTION by taking a straight course;
It's an uneasy sense of guilt, repentance and remorse.

Accused of wrong doing, you will be elated
When found innocent; freed of all blame: EXCULPATED.

In some miscellaneous notes we discovered the fact that "the eyes of the great blue whale are about the size of grapefruit." Probably comes from ogling some slick young whippersnapper swimming by.

Owners of homes having outdoor storage tanks for inflammable liquids should keep debris away and dried grass-trimmed back from such containers. Nobody can afford even a small fire.

BASEBALL THOUGHT

The Lone Star State of vast domain,
Where not a thing is meager,
Has been unable to explain
The puny "Texas Leaguer."

Le Roy Osborn

Too much exposure to summer sun's harmful and dangerous for many persons. Also beware of over-exertion on hot days: sunstroke can be fatal. Take more salt into your system before hot weather exertion.

A thought to make me more humble while swatting the summer evening pests: Through the ages we smart humans have developed no defense against, nor tolerance for mosquito bites. But already mosquitoes are acquiring immunity against famed D.D.T.

It happened in Milwaukee. A certain employer told his chief clerk that he would be out of town all afternoon on business matters. The C.C. wanted to see the "Brewers" play and took advantage of the situation to slip out to the ball park. And there nearby in the grandstand was the boss (That much you guessed). But all is well. The employer was squiring an attractive blonde (the "Mrs" is a brunette). Subsequently, both of the gentlemen have been discreetly and completely silent in the matter.

We hope that you will not have a vacation of the sort that will make you need another one when it is over.

"Can't" or "Can"?

IT'S A FALLACY to say
"It can't happen here!"
Just about then it does happen—and it will happen again whether fire, windstorm, explosion or other calamity.

There's one way to prevent financial loss—ask

Mr. Duane D. Doan, Jr., Weds Miss Dorothy May Church

LANGHORNE, Aug. 2—Last Saturday afternoon at two Miss Dorothy May Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Church, Langhorne RD 2, became the bride of Mr. Duane D. Doan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane D. Doan, Sr., Yardley RD.

Flowers decorated the Newtown Presbyterian Church as the former Miss Church was given in marriage by her father. Organ selections by Mrs. William Kenderline included "Because," "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me" and "Always." The Rev. John E. Mertz, pastor of the church, conducted the marriage ceremony.

The bride was attired in a white embossed street-length gown of mouseline de soie. A Peter Pan collar topped a row of covered buttons which went to the waist, where a tight-fitted bodice flared out into a full skirt. The bride's accessories were white, as was her horsehair picture hat.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. William E. Church, who served as her attendant, wore a pink embossed street-length gown of mouseline de soie with identical accessories.

The bride's mother was attired in a pale green crepe gown with white accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom wore a tan crepe print gown, also with white accessories.

Mr. William E. Church, a brother of the bride, served as best man for Mr. Doan. The ushers were Mr. Robert Doan, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Paul Rothermel.

Following the ceremony the members of the immediate families attended a reception at the home of the bride.

The newly married couple are now taking a trip through the northern part of the country.

Mrs. Doan is a graduate of Langhorne-Middletown high school, and her husband was graduated from Council Rock high school in 1947.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward C. Kolbe
Pastor
St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Croydon

A sick man, at the end of a misspent life, asked a Christian minister, "Do you think that a deathbed repentance does away with a whole life of sin?" "No," answered the pastor, "but Calvary does."

The death of Christ on Calvary does away with every sin — the sins of our childhood, our youth, and our old age. "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth us from all sin," says St. John. "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow." All of them.

It is not a question of being late or being early, of being more guilty or less guilty, of being old or young; it is merely a question of accepting now the abundant pardon which is ours through the limitless love of the Son of God.

The thief on the cross was late — very late — but not too late. If you have not yet made your peace with God through faith in Jesus Christ, "now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation."

CROYDON A. C. ALL SET TO WIN CROWN OF YOUTH LEAGUE

Croydon A. C. practically clinched the regular season crown of the Bristol Youth League as it beat the Newportville Redskins, 3-1, last evening on the Third Ward field. The worst that Croydon can get out of the season is a tie for first place as it has another scheduled game with Bristol Terrace to be played on Sunday.

"Jimmy" Morrell hurled the Croydon team to the triumph, giving the losers three hits. He was in a bad way in the second when Weaver doubled and Schmidt, Ashby, and Stuebing walked to force in a run. But with the bags loaded, "Ed" Oliver fled out to center.

Richmond had four of the Croydon hits, two doubles and two singles. "Bill" Moll had two for two while the other hits went to Morrell and Holgate.

LUSCIANO BOUNCES BACK AND WINS GAME

Luciano Brothers bounced back into the win column of the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening by winning over the Auto Boys team, 7-5, on Leedom's field.

The Auto Boys ten staged a last ditch rally in the final frame and scored twice on singles by Reggie Jerome and Bert Miles and walks to Bill Stockton, Dick VanAllen, and Mike DeLisa. The bases were still loaded when Art Kramers filed to "Bill" MacSherry to end the tilt.

Luciano had 11 hits in the contest with the Auto Boys getting seven. Roy Lynch had three for three to lead the batters while his twin brother, Gene, had a triple and single in three trips to the plate.

ST. ANN'S WILL MEET PIRATES HERE TONIGHT

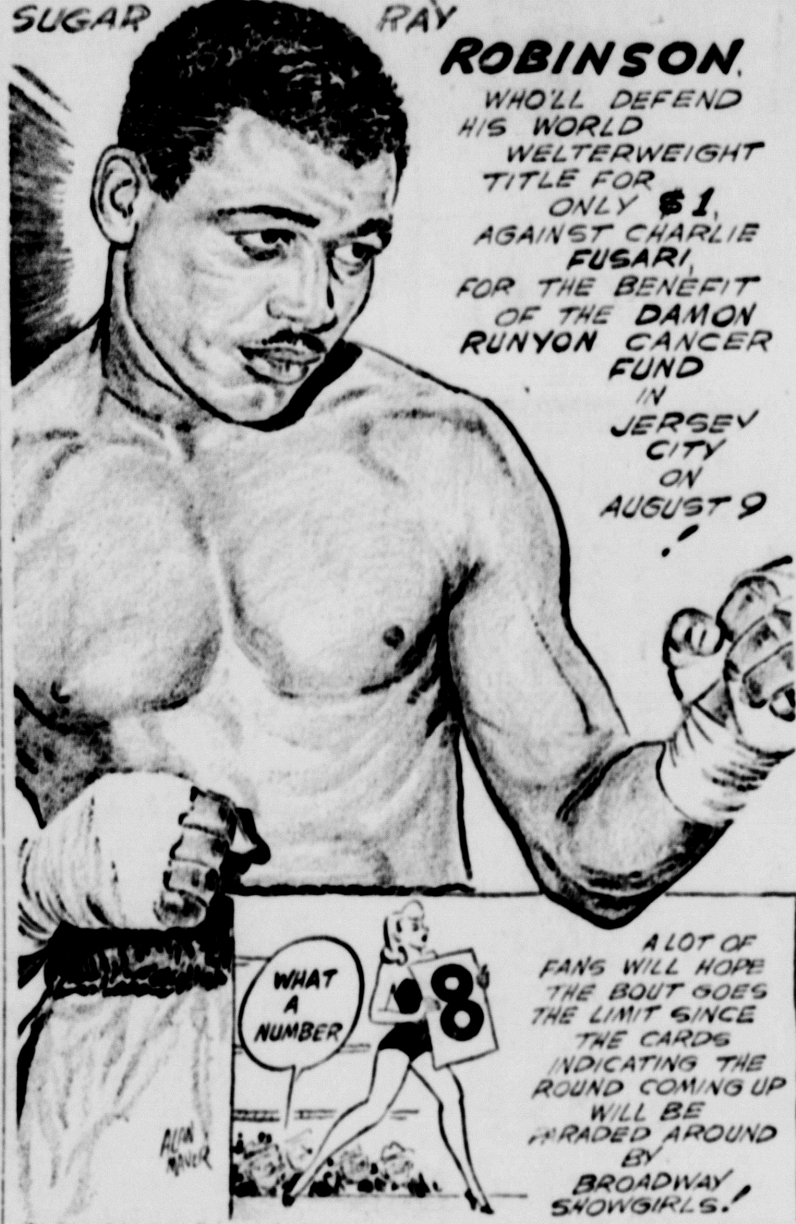

St. Ann's A. A. will again meet the Trenton Pirates this evening on Memorial Park field, starting at 6:15 o'clock. The localities will attempt to increase their lead on first position in the Trenton Industrial League.

Last Sunday, St. Ann's beat the Pirates for the first time in four games. It was a hitting duel with St. Ann's outlasting their rivals, 16-13, and outscoring them, 12-9.

Paul Leighton will pitch for Manager "Spike" Scordia's team with Joe Elmer or Dave Morrell behind the plate.

Last evening, St. Ann's lost to the Atwood team, 6-2, on Wetzel field. Joe Sagolla, the starting St. Ann's moundman, was relieved by Paul Cervellero in the second. The latter did fine relief work.

"Kenny" Hollingsworth held the Voltz-Texaco team in check last evening as the Hilltop A. C. nine beat the Bristolans, 12-4, on the Hilltop field last evening in a Tri-County League fray.

Voltz made 11 hits off the Hilltop twirler but in the pinches, Hollingsworth was at his best.

Earl Cochran and "Sal" Pappaterra were the Voltz pitchers. Hilltop scored eleven runs in the fifth inning with Bristol getting a home run. For the losers, Jack Walker had three singles.

Ways of A Spy Are Important to All

as a guy who never seemed to have more than a dollar in his pocket. To the public it seemed inconceivable that such a man could have been of any value to the Russians in espionage against the United States.

His father, Barnett, now dead, was a native of Russia who became a naturalized American citizen in 1921. His mother, Mrs. Tessie Greenglass, said after her son's arrest:

"You have a child in your arms until a certain age, and then you don't butt in any more..." She was weeping softly.

Other relatives described David as "a good boy" and shook their heads in shocked disbelief over the government's charges against him.

Greenglass's neighborhood butcher said: "He was a sort of close-mouthed and kept to himself. But nobody ever thought of him as a spy."

Then the story came out. While stationed as a soldier at the atomic energy plant at Los Alamos, N. M., the government charges, Greenglass made a sketch of a high explosive lens mold and prepared a statement on the atomic bomb project.

This data, the government charges, Greenglass turned over to the courier for the spy ring, Gold, the Philadelphia biochemist, who in turn transmitted it to Russian agents. That was in June, 1945, and the government says that Greenglass and Gold were working with Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the British atomic scientist who was stationed at Los Alamos. Fuchs, first member of the atomic spy ring to be arrested, is now serving a 14-year prison term in England.

Greenglass, a technician fourth class before his discharge from the army, was admittedly a former member of the Young Communist League, but insisted that he never became a member of the Communist Party.

The evidence indicated, government agents said, that Greenglass was merely a useful pawn, recruited by another member of the spy ring.

The FBI says that Greenglass, now awaiting trial, has admitted his part in the spy plot.

Edward Scheidt, FBI director in New York, quoted the former army sergeant as saying: "I felt it was gross negligence on the part of the United States not to give Russia the information about the atom bomb, because she was an ally."

How Greenglass was persuaded to become a spy and the identity of the man who "recruited" him was not revealed until a month later, with the arrest of a fourth man who allegedly betrayed his country to Russia.

The board voted authority to Dr. William Goldfarb to continue foot examinations on the same terms and under the same conditions as last year.

The board will meet on August 10th to consider bids for the reconditioning of the Jefferson avenue school play grounds.

The P. T. A. put in a bid for the refreshment concession during the football season. Seventy-five per cent of the profits to be turned over to the school board and the association to retain the balance. The board voted to invite the Mothers' and the Fathers' Associations to bid for the concession.

The chairman of the athletic committee, George Perkins, announced that the Varsity football schedule had been completed, with 10 games to be played, seven of which are to be at home.

The work shop scheduled for September has been deferred until later. The schools will open with morning sessions only until September 11th.

A request from the Pennell String Band for the privilege to rent the high school stadium for a string band exhibition and concert on the evening of September 29th, was considered. It was voted to grant the request and to discuss conditions with the requesting organization.

demolition and debris-removing machinery and personnel, blood banks, food supply and distribution and communications systems, including amateur radio sets and motorcycles to be used as carriers.

A plan was also being readied to handle disaster refugees from any stricken area.

A further meeting is being planned prior to Labor Day when reports will be heard and further action planned.

The GPSJ civil defense liaison group is not to be a new agency which will take over the work of some other established state or federal agency, it was announced at the meeting, but to coordinate defense efforts in the Philadelphia area.

The counties were warned bluntly that "If we find one county is falling down on the job, then we will bring some pressure to bear to remedy the situation."

J. Harry LeBrum, counsel for the group, told the members that "There is no town so humble that it cannot make a tremendous contribution."

Council representatives at the meeting were W. Roy Widdoes, Chester county; William Deleahanty, Delaware; Wallace G. Murfit, Bucks; Fred H. Swanson, Montgomery; Victor F. Sherron, Philadelphia; Howard C. Wickes, Camden; and Maj. Gregory J. Doyle, Burlington. Mercer and Gloucester counties were not represented.

Judge Hiram Keller, coordinator of the Bucks County state defense network, is scheduled to hold a meeting this afternoon in Doylestown with county defense officials.
